

Kellie Sergent, Realtor®

Making the decision to sell your home is not always an easy one. Maybe it's the home you raised your family in. Maybe it's the first home you bought with your hard earned money. Or maybe you've had a life change and the time has come to move on. Now what? How do you choose the right Realtor? Aren't they all the same? The answer is NO and I would love the opportunity to show you why selecting the right Realtor will ensure that your home gets the personal attention and professional marketing it deserves. My focus is always: a home should not just be "on the market" but IN THE MARKET.
